

Alternative Spring Break

Do you want to get away to a warm sunny climate but can't afford the airfare? Do you wish you could go home but have local commitments which prevent you from getting away?

Spend your spring break doing something positive for the environment
(while building your résumé.)

Volunteer for NBNERR

The Narragansett Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve invites you to participate in a non-native plant control effort scheduled to take place on Prudence Island, RI during your Spring Break.

Volunteers who commit to multiple days of effort are welcome to stay in our guest cottage on the island*. Volunteers who wish to participate on a day-to-day basis are also welcome. For a complete program overview, visit www.nbnerr.org/springbreak.htm.

*Space in the cottage is limited, so register early to ensure that you have overnight accommodation.

[Photo credit: Jerry Gibson]