

Great Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve

Designated in 1989, New Hampshire's Research Reserve promotes the wise use and management of the Great Bay Estuary. Encompassing over 25,000 acres of tidal waters and uplands, the Reserve is part of the Atlantic flyway for migratory birds.

Photo by: Kelle Loughlin

SEPTEMBER

"The Narragansett Bay Research Reserve Celebrates 30 years of Research, Education, and Stewardship."

2010

